

Work in progress – please do not quote without permission.

KATARSIS first steps

Viena, 16-17 June 2006

WP1.1

Labour market,
employment strategies
and social economy

Isabel André

ED and SCS - PROPOSAL

Exclusion dynamics (ED)	Socially creative strategies (SCS)
Polarisation Transferability of low skilled (role of public training and education) Flexibility + protective systems erosion Early school-leaving ICT lack of familiarity Economic restructuring (expulsion of low-skilled workers) Exclusion of women (??) Long-term unemployment Gender and ethnic discrimination	SME (mobilisation of non-mainstream savoir-faires) Social economy initiatives Voluntary work Neighbourhood based business centres Business networking (state, market, civil society) Alternative labour market niches in artistic and cultural activities

ED reviewed

Exclusion dynamics	Exclusion processes
Global economic restructuring	Polarisation of LM Transferability of low skilled Flexibility of labour relations Protective systems erosion
Skills and competencies	Early school-leaving Exclusion from learning society ICT lack of familiarity
Special vulnerability of certain groups	Women disadvantages Immigrants disadvantages Gender and ethnic discrimination Long term unemployment

SCS reviewed

Socially creative strategies - sources	Socially creative strategies - domains
New niches of work/employment	Arts and culture alternative activities Non-hegemonic labour networks (e.g. immigrants or women networks) Neighbourhood based business centres (grassroot local development agencies)
Social economy	Social inclusion through artistic activities (circus, theatre, music, ...)
Voluntary work and cooperation environment	Learning communities
Conciliation professional work-family-personal life	Time banks

Linking ED and SCS

Exclusion dynamics	Exclusion processes	Socially creative strategies - sources	Socially creative strategies - domains
Global economic restructuring	Polarisation of LM Transferability of low skilled Flexibility of labour relations Protective systems erosion	New niches of work/employment	Arts and culture alternative activities Non-hegemonic labour networks (e.g. immigrants or women networks) Neighbourhood based business centres (grassroot local development agencies)
Skills and competencies	Early school-leaving Exclusion from learning society ICT lack of familiarity	Social economy	Neighbourhood social and personal services Social inclusion through artistic activities (circus, theatre, music, ...)
Special vulnerability of certain groups	Women disadvantages Immigrants disadvantages Gender and ethnic discrimination Long term unemployment 2nd generation immigrants unemployment	Voluntary work and cooperation environment	Learning communities
		Conciliation professional work-family-personal life	Time banks

ED → SCS

Exclusion dynamics	Processes	Socially creative strategies
Global economic restructuring	Polarisation of LM Transferability of low skilled Flexibility of labour relations Protective systems erosion
Skills and competencies	Early school-leaving Exclusion from learning society ICT lack of familiarity
Special vulnerability of certain groups	Women disadvantages Immigrants disadvantages Gender and ethnic discrimination Long term unemployment

SCS → ED

Sources of socially creative strategies	Some SCS domains	Exclusion dynamics
New niches of work/employment	Arts and culture alternative activities Non-hegemonic labour networks (e.g. immigrants or women networks) Neighbourhood based business centres (grassroot local development agencies)
Social economy	Social inclusion through artistic activities (circus, theatre, music, ...)
Voluntary work and cooperation environment	Learning communities
Conciliation professional work-family-personal life	Time banks	